SHANGHAI, Nov. 1.—Japanese
General Kiyoshi Hasegawa apologized today to the United States for the crossing of the international border in a rice-laden junk
carrying soldiers and arms.

A party of Japanese bluejackets crossed the creek to the American sector of the international
border in a rice-laden junk
carrying soldiers and arms.

The apology came as 7,000 Japanese shock troops, under cover of a heavy artillery barrage,
crossed the creek west of Soochow

Creek. Closer to the settlement, Japanese used the Chinese junk
to land and attack Chinese positions in the south bank.

Japanese attempted to blast
their way into Chinese positions
by firing from the junk.

British Major General
A. P. D. Telfer-Smollett,
commander of British troops, refused to withdraw his soldiers from posts in western sections of the answer to Japanese disclosure that Chinese machine gun nests along the Shanghai-Hankow railway would be used to bombard the British troops. He ordered British troops to open fire on all British posts and sandbag barriers.

He served notice that the British would hold their lines regardless of the results.

Tension between Japanese and British troops became more acute,
as British troops became more actively engaged in the fighting.

Dorothy Sutton, Mt. Airy, Pennsylvania.

Drunks Keep Police
Busy During Month

Twenty intoxication arrests comprised exactly half of the total number of arrests made by Salem police department members during October, the court docket showed today. The previous month's arrests totalled 30.

Second highest in the number of arrests was reckless driving. Eight men were arrested on this count.

Other arrests last month included:
Driving while intoxicated, 3; felonious assault, 1; intoxication and disorderly conduct, 1; petty larceny, 1;
grand larceny, 1; resisting an officer, 1; driving a motor vehicle with fictitious plates, 1; vagrancy, 2, and driving without a driver's permit, 1, taking improper liberties with a child, 1.

Score of 91

Twing Seeds held possession of the C. S. Chisholm trap and skeet shooting trophy today after winning out in the monthly trophy shoot at the Salem Country club yesterday.

Seeds turned in scores of 21 and 22 at skeet and 24 and 24 at trap to take first place with a total score of 91. It was his first win in the monthly event.

Nate Hunt, who won the trophy
twice in succession and needed only one more victory to gain permanent possession of the cup, finished fourth with a score of 86.

George Baillie, who won the first of the trophy shoots four months ago, was second yesterday with a score of 89, made with scores of 21 and 22 at trap and 22 and 24
at skeet.

Dr. G. A. Roosevelt finished third, turning in four scores of 22 for a total of 88.

Other shooters finished as follows: Hunt, 22-21-21-22-86; Mc-Allister, 19-17-23-19-78; Chisholm,
23-19-18-15-75; Rinehart, 11-22-

Victim of Axe

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—Police held a confessed axe-wielder today in the investigation of the slaying of James Kassuba, 26, a machinist, whose hacked body was found lying in a driveway yesterday.

Police said the prisoner, a 33-year-old man, admitted swinging an axe at Kassuba and a companion chased him to his home on Halloween and attempted to enter the house.

Prepares for Special Session

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The first anniversary Wednesday of President Roosevelt's reelection will find the chief executive facing political problems unforeseen at the time of his victory.

The Democratic party, which in 1936 confidently counted the biggest party following in history, is threatened with an internal split.
Its members are uncertain whether they will be fighting shoulder to shoulder or face to face in 1938 and 1940.

The Republican party, overwhelmed and almost knocked out a year ago, is rallying for a new fight, although it too faces internal troubles.

Indices Going Down
A record breaking Democratic majority in congress last year watched the industrial indices rise and apparently was ready to enact the President's recommendations.

This week the President is preparing for a special session of congress at a time when industrial indices are dropping. Administration leaders are uncertain whether the huge congressional majorities will approve the President's program or kick it overboard.

Some congressional leaders who campaigned with the President in 1936 are off the reservation now.
The President's legislative chieftain of a year ago—Senator Joseph T.
Robinson of Arkansas—is dead.

Organized labor, credited with a large part in Mr. Roosevelt's re-election, is so deeply split that one faction is fighting the other's political candidates.

Despite all these developments,

SALEM WORKER
FATALLY HURTBliss Plant Employee Is Crushed Between Two Castings

Injuries received last Wednesday night while at work at the E.
W. Bliss Co. plant, proved fatal to Angelo D'Ambrosia, 41, in the Central Clinic at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

D'Ambrosia, who came here 14 months ago from Brooklyn, N. Y., where the Bliss company has another plant, was caught between two castings at 6 p. m. Wednesday. A crushed chest caused his death.

The victim who was a World war veteran resided here with his brother-in-law, Tony Juliano, 445 S.
Broadway. During the war he served overseas with the 28th division of Pennsylvania. He was born in New York.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian, living in Brooklyn.
D'Ambrosia's body was taken last night to Brooklyn where the funeral service and burial will be held Wednesday morning.

C.H. Wolfe Ends 49 Years
Service With Pennsylvania

Served at Various Points
He was named regular agent at Enon, Pa., in 1896, being transferred to Wooster in 1903. After 13 years at Wooster he was sent to take charge of the Mansfield depot and a year later assumed charge of the Mansfield station.

Wolfe was sent to take charge of the station at Alliance in 1919 and worked there for nine years. He received the appointment to the Salem depot in 1928 and has been here ever since.

The retiring railroad veteran,
who remembers the many bad snow storms of early years which paralyzed railroad traffic, also recalls numerous changes in rail transportation.

The Pennsylvania railroad was a

Unique Design For Benefit

One of the most elaborate and costly settings ever designed for a local stage is being constructed for the production, "Wings of the Morning," the play to be presented by the Presbyterian church Thursday and Friday evenings in the High school auditorium. Proceeds of the play are for the new building fund of the church.

Scenery construction is under the capable supervision of James M.
McDonald, director of the play. Mr.
McDonald is well qualified for his work, having had wide experience in dramatics not only on the university campus but with organized troups of players.

He holds a master's degree in education from Ohio State university, where he figured prominently in dramatics as well as athletics. He was a member of Ohio State's variety football squad.

His real dramatic training was gained in the Pasadena Players school of California. There he appeared frequently in productions of the famous Hollywood bowl.

He later toured the country with several well-known plays, appearing in such cities as Boston, New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Since last year he has been head of the dramatics department of Salem High school.

School Levy, Up
For Vote Tuesday,
Not A New Levy

The schools' three-mill levy,
which will be up for renewal at tomorrow's election, is not a new levy.

The levy has been in effect
for more than a score of years.
It provides funds for the operation of schools. Without it, the schools will be forced to suspend classes.

It will not increase taxes.
Each voter who goes to the polls tomorrow will receive three ballots, one containing names of city candidates; another with candidates for township offices and school board;
and the third with two special issues.

One of these is a levy for a proposed school building at the Fairmount county home. It is a county issue.

The other is the Salem school levy, a purely Salem issue. It has been placed second on this special issues ballot.

The head of the proposal says, briefly, "An increase in the tax levy." That heading, however, was used when the levy became effective many years ago and has been used thus ever since. It meant an increase when it was first voted. There is no increase at the present time.

School officials again emphasized today that if the levy fails, so will Salem's schools.

School Levy Up
Salem citizens also are particularly interested in the proposed renewal of the schools' three-mill levy. It is not a new tax, only a renewal of a levy that has been in effect for a score of years to provide funds for keeping the schools in operation.

In addition to the majority nominees, the city ballot will include:

For president of council: Charles Cornwall (R) incumbent, unopposed.

Treasurer: Orvil Hoover (R), incumbent; Dale J. Hafferty (D).

Solicitor: Lorin Caplan (R), incumbent, unopposed.

Councilmen-at-Large: Three to elect, Charles Rheutant (R), A. P.
Morris (R), incumbents; Fred S.
Smith (R); Lyman Goodball (D).

Ward Councilmen
First ward: C. F. Zimmerman
(R), incumbent; Russell Conkle
(D).

Second ward: E. H. Taylor (R), incumbent; Leo Edwards (D).

Third ward: Paul B. (Judy)
Myers (R), incumbent, Charles Renkenberger (D).

Fourth ward: George Lewis (R),
incumbent; Fred Koenrich (D).

Six Out For Constables
The Perry township ballot will include the names of six candidates for two constable jobs. George H.
Morris and Frank Eckstein are seeking reelection, while the other aspirants are Harold V. Shepard, Harley D. Pelo, Lloyd Ormes and
E. Thomas Tice.

In Perry township trustee races
Galen Greenstein is contesting with P. J. Dean and R. C. Eckstein, incumbents, in the four-year term races. Two are to be elected. J. G.
Reese, candidate for the two-year term under the new state arrangement, is without opposition.

Unopposed school board candidates, up for reelection, include
James H. Wilson and Clyde Reich.
Important as a means of securing necessary operating expenses for Salem public schools, the school board's three-mill levy for five years will be up for renewal.

The Salem voters also will be asked to vote on another special issue, that of a three-fourth mill levy for a school building program at the Fairmount Children's home near Alliance. Both issues will appear on the same ballot. The Salem proposal coming second.

CAUGHT SHORT AGAIN

The subject of short selling has been thrown open to further investigation. Without intent to detract from the conclusions which the experts will reach this time, it is safe to predict they will follow an established pattern.

Short selling, it will be learned, is a useful device when it is used in a way that does not depress the stock market. It will be learned simultaneously that it is a dangerous device when used in a way that does depress the market.

In other words, short selling is an act of pessimism when the market is falling and a legitimate business device when the market is rising. Pessimism being always less admirable than optimism, the short sellers, sometimes called "bears," always get it in the neck when things aren't going right.

It does them relatively little good to point out that the only difference between them and margin operators is that they do business on securities they do not own while margin operators do business on money they do not own. They're short on stock and long on money; the margin buyers are short on money and long on stock. But they're optimists, and that makes everything all right.

THAT OLD FEELING

Americans have been clearing their throats and stumbling over chairs for decades whenever an Englishman blinked at them. If there's such a thing as an inferiority complex, they have it.

It isn't surprising that the jitters are showing up well in advance of the Duke of Windsor's visit. That old feeling's still there. Apologists already are explaining that Americans are going to be at their worst.

They feel sure the Duke will be annoyed by mobs, that the great American curiosity will inconvenience him and that there will be conspicuous absence of that fine restraint which well bred persons exercise in the presence of important personages.

This wouldn't be important, except for the fact that some Americans will take it seriously and try to be unnatural. Some of them even will develop English accents for the occasion, we suppose.

The Duke will eat it all up and ask for more, even if his hosts do stumble over their own feet. Why, if he's lucky, he may get as much attention as Robert Taylor—and attention's what a Personage craves.

JAPAN WINS A BATTLE

A Shanghai warehouse was the stage. Barricaded inside it were 150 Chinese soldiers, well armed, well supplied, and resolved to resist the Japanese until the last man was dead.

Their defiance was a challenge to the enemy. They were trapped. Destruction was only a question of time. But someone on the enemy's side had more intelligence than it takes to pull a trigger.

He realized that to kill the barricaded men would be to martyr them. He had sense enough to know that Japan cannot afford to add recklessly to the hatred that patriotic Chinese already bear toward it.

His wisdom prevailed. It was agreed that the philosopher's smile was more useful than the warrior's fist. There would be no martyrdom. The trapped Chinese soldiers were brave men, worthy of the respect of brave men. They would be spared.

Japan has won one of the most important battles of the war by refusing to spill blood for blood's sake, a decision it should have made before the first bombs were dropped on civilians in Shanghai.

Note: Mr. Wilson was one of the quiet contemplators of existence so often found writing anonymously for the editorial pages. Although not conscious of the great change so many thinkers now call translation, he was in the shadow of Death, when one day at his desk he was suddenly inspired to write this epic so different from his usual vein. It was only a short while later that he rather prophetically and quite fearlessly faced the experience the late Charles Frohman on a sinking ship called "life's greatest adventure."

The ups and downs of the stock market wouldn't be so disturbing to Washington, perhaps, if the downs weren't so quick and the ups so slow.

Here is a news story telling of cloth being made of glass. We'll wait awhile before placing an order for a new suit.

Here is a news item that says: "An American flag was displayed on the Marion County Courthouse, upside down." It may have been intended as a signal that the taxpayers are in distress.

O. O. MCINTYRE
NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—Diary: A breakfast feast on some tasty preserves Margaret Pemberton sent from Jersey. And came an autographed copy of Louis Bromfield's brave tale of India, "The Rain Came." Also a note from Wendy Barrie and one from Gilda Gray, now on a Colorado ranch.

So talking to my wife about getting away awhile, becoming almost potty hearing so many cankered in doubt about the world. And Winnie Sheehan and the lovely Jeritza called to invite us to broadcast with Will and Jessie Hays. Then for a walk, and a street fiddler told me he once fiddled at Rector's.

To dinner with the Jos. P. Kennedys and I found him as always one of the clearest thinkers of our time. And chatting a moment with Mrs. Margaret Emerson and her daughter, Gloria Baker, Harry Evans, George Jean Nathan and Luza, the fashion artist. To my couch.

More than a million have followed David Grayson's "Adventures in Contentment," so popular twenty years ago. Recently he was asked to revive the "Adventures," and again they rang the bell. Which proves the tug of simplicity in writing and in theme. The Grayson articles are without plot. Just rambling notations of the joys to be found in the quiet places by the side of the road—looking on. Not many know Grayson in real life is the well-known Ray Stannard Baker, of Amherst, Mass.

In the London Daily Mail there is a stickful daily on the editorial page captioned, "A Countryman's Diary." It is a musical lit in type, from the countryside, exquisite essayettes about darting wrens in the hedgerows, the spread of tree moss and innumerable observations so truly rural and as old-fashioned as the rag hearth rug. The diary has been running 20 years and a Fleet street editor tells me it brings more protests when left out than any other feature.

For oblivion: Those fan clubs who fire a barrage of letters when a columnist has anything save praise for a movie star.

New York is expecting shortly a visit from Mrs. Laura Henderson, London's lively 73-year-old lady who has proved such a good friend to English theatrical performers. Rich, she opened up a closed theatre in London as an open door to actors out of work, and called the enterprise "Revueville." It continues from 2 p. m. until 9:30. In four years only four weeks had been profitable until recently, when it caught on and today is a money maker. Mrs. Henderson has lived much of her life in China and India.

And, speaking of China, friends about the Lamps and Players are wondering the fate of dapper Tom Millard in the Shanghai uprising. No one seems to have heard from him. Tommy, a native of Rolla, Mo., who features snow white spats, derbies of brown beaver, and hasn't dined in mufti in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, has been a foreign correspondent for 30 years and more recently became a public relations counsel for the Chinese government. He became as much a part of Shanghai as The Bund.

An avenue haberdasher tells me the most favored design in neckties is the blue polka dot. Every man, he says, has one or more in his collection. Most necktie buyers like the feminine viewpoint. Clifton Webb brings his mother. Lynn Fontanne makes Alfred Lunt's selections. Arnold Reuben, the delicatessen, is a glutton for purple ties and any new shade will make him a customer. Jack Wheeler will sneak a red tie purchase now and then when his wife isn't looking. Charles G. Norris, the novelist, is the most extravagant of all cravat customers, but most of his ties are gifts for friends. William Goadby Lowie is about the last of the Ascot tie buyers.

Bagatelles: Rollin Kirby, the cartoonist, is an expert at bottle pool. Col. E. M. House has subscribed to a careful diet and routine of exercise since his 20th birthday. Sinclair Lewis is a pushover for chilled raw tomatoes with coarse salt, as who isn't.

Reflection: Ukulele music sounds to me like the requiem for a dead cat, sung by two plaintive kittens.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, November 2

According to the lunar transits for this day, supported by an important mutual aspect, there should be a rather restless and unsettled condition in all business of a speculative nature, particularly that having to do with advertising, publishing or promotional enterprises.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of somewhat unsettled and restless conditions that seem to pervade with emphasis all those affairs connected with writings, documents, publishing, promotion and advertising. An undercurrent of deceit or small trickeries calls for precaution and vigilance.

A child born on this day is likely to be very clever, subtle and versatile, with strong leanings to the scientific novel and unusual, which may make it restless, ever yearning for fresh fields to enjoy and conquer.

Turkey Center Stages Fiesta

Three prize girls and gobblers

Chief feature of the fifth annual "Turkey Day" celebrated at Koma, Cal., center of the gobble-raising industry, is a pageant in which the pretty participants are garbed in turkey feathers. Three of those taking part are, left to right, Georgia Kearney, Helen Jones and Mary Kay Holly.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

BOILS
AT A RECENT intercollegiate regatta a friend of mine visited the quarters of the competing crews. All of these lads were over six feet in height and appeared to possess the very essence of good health.

Yet, several were afflicted with that annoying complaint known as boils.

At one time this affliction was believed to be due to poor blood and anemia. These athletes were certainly not victims of anemia, quite the opposite. As a matter of fact, the old theory has been exploded. It is now known that boils and some other infections of the skin are caused by a germ called the "staphylococcus aureus."

This germ is found everywhere. It enters the skin through an abrasion or inflamed area. It is rubbed into the surface by friction and pressure. Soiled clothes and dirty hands carry the germ and may be responsible for boils.

Practice Cleanliness
It is wise that cleanliness be practiced, both in person and clothing, because the germs of unpleasant ailments thrive in unsanitary places.

It is true that skin infections, such as boils and carbuncles, are often traced to a lowered resistance of the body. Persons who are deprived of fresh air, sunshine and nourishing food are extremely susceptible to such disturbances. Occasionally they can be traced to a center of infection somewhere, perhaps in the teeth or tonsils.

An attack of boils may be a sign of a constitutional disorder. It may be the first warning that the sugar content in the system is excessive. This always demands a thorough examination, including a urinalysis. In any event, make sure there is no diabetic condition if a crop of boils appears.

Beauty and Health

When the National Beauty and Health Exposition was held in Chicago, Miss Mildred Creutz was chosen as "Miss Beauty, Health and Charm of 1937." It's a long title, but judging from looks alone she deserves it.

UNCLE ABNER SAYS:

There's nothin' like high taxation t' keep th' politicians in bizness an' th' bizness men out.
Th' corner grocer is savin' packin' boxes t' increase th' seatin' capacity at th' store this winter.

Young adults who are fond of fried foods, rich desserts, sweets, pickles and spices sometimes suffer from boils. Correction of the diet and exposure to fresh air and sunshine will help in such cases.

The favorite location for these "comforters" are the back of the neck, armpits, buttocks, thighs and groins. They may be small and numerous in some cases. In another, a boil may be so large and painful as to incapacitate the sufferer and even confine him to bed.

A boil should never be squeezed. There is great danger in doing this. Unscented handling of a boil may lead to the spread of the infection. If you are the victim of boils, make sure that your diet is varied and includes the essential foods. It should be simple and contain an abundance of fresh fruits, vegetables and foods rich in minerals and vitamins.

Answers to Health Queries
Mrs. B. Q.—What will overcome nervous indigestion and shortness of breath?

A.—Remove the underlying cause of trouble first of all. Careful diet and regular habits should be of great benefit and advantage. For full particulars, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City, N. Y.

Robert Young, Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone, appearing in the State's current film, "The Bride Wore Red."

"The Bride Wore Red," film of Tuesday at the State tonight and Tuesday, was adapted to the screen from Ferenc Molnar's "The Girl from Trieste," hailed as the famous playwright's greatest stage success since "Liliom" and "The Guardsman."

Deeply human in theme, yet replete with amusing comedy situations and characters, "The Bride Wore Red" is the intensely dramatic story of a waterfront cabaret singer and dancer who suddenly becomes a Cinderella. As Annie, the vivacious waterfront wait around whom the story is woven, Joan Crawford culminates three years of voice study by singing on the screen for the first time. She also dances the tango.

Four Weeks' Story
Like all of Molnar's characters the people are down-to-earth and real. The swift-moving action takes place during four weeks. In those weeks, through the whim of a philosophical nobleman, Annie is sent to a fashionable mountain resort where she becomes a society belle.

Forced to choose between the humble Giulio and wealthy Rodi, Annie faces a problem that will determine the future course of her life. Annie's decision and her constant fear of discovery make for romance, suspense and humor.

The Grand offers "Lancer Spy" with Dolores De Rio, George Sanders and Peter Lorre in featured roles, tonight and Tuesday.

With one chance in a thousand that he'll ever return, Sanders, a British naval officer, impersonates a captured German officer whom he resembles, and crosses the lines on a mission of espionage and counter-espionage, cross and double-cross, with no rules except not to get caught and no loyalties or loves unless they can serve a purpose.

Wins Decorations
To bolster the morale of the Belgian citizenry, depressed by some of the darkest hours of the war, the general staff makes a hero out of Sanders, and he is decorated by the Kaiser himself. The only suspicions are voiced by Sig Rumann, who sends Dolores Del Rio to trap Sanders, and Peter Lorre, his aide.

But, thanks to a British spy, Sanders is able to fool his beautiful investigator, and she soon falls in love with him. It is only then that she discovers his identity, but when this happens she is on his side. In a brilliant coup Sanders gets the information he wants and is about to escape when he is detected.

by Peter Lorre. Lorre, however, turns out to be a Swiss spy. For his role in the film Sanders undertakes the impersonation of four characters, something of a record. At first a British naval officer, he studies every mannerism and physical characteristic of the captured German until he can duplicate them perfectly. Later he masks as a sixty-year-old German general, a difficult job for a young man, and finally is able to escape to safety by another disguise, this time a Swiss railway conductor.

It is the tall Britisher's first attempt at a leading role, and marks a great change from his former characterizations.

DEPOSED CHURCH LEADER IS DEAD

Wm. M. Brown, Former Episcopal Bishop, Dies At Galion

GALION, Nov. 1.—Twelve years of struggle to regain the title of bishop came to an end with the death yesterday of William Montgomery Brown, deposed Episcopal church leader.

The 82-year-old avowed heretic and Communist died of a cerebral hemorrhage less than a month after his eighth rejected appeal to the church convention from a church court conviction of heresy.

He likewise had failed in attempts to have civil courts hear his case. Turning to the lecture platform and book and pamphlet writing, he had called his trial a "burlesque on religion" and said he was tried by "standards of the middle ages."

His statement in a book, "Communism and Christianity," that he doubted that Christ ever lived and that if he did, he "would not if he could, and could not if he would, be a member of any church today," brought the heresy charges in 1924. He was found guilty in the same year and unfrocked as bishop of Arkansas in 1925.

Born Sept. 4, 1855, at Orrville, he became an orphan to be befriended and employed by Mrs. Mary Scranton Bradford of Cleveland, whose daughter Ella he married shortly before opening his ministry here in 1883. He soon became known as a church organizer and writer, winning the positions of archdeacon of Ohio, coadjutor bishop of Arkansas and then bishop. Ill health led him to retire in 1912.

He will be buried in a mausoleum beside his wife, who died in 1935, after funeral service in Grace Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Orville E. Watson of Gambier and the Rev. Kenneth C. Wilson of Akron were named to officiate.

BRITISH PROBE SHIP SINKING

Battle Cruiser Hood Is Sent to Barcelona After Attack

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 1.—The government today ordered the battle cruiser Hood, most powerful warship in the world, to Barcelona to investigate the "pirate" attack on the British merchantman, Jean Weems, off the Spanish coast.

Her officers were instructed to interview the crew of the Jean Weems, all saved before the bomb-wrecked vessel went down Saturday morning. The officers also were told to get the stories of the two non-intervention observers on board the Jean Weems.

No Indication of Action
There was no indication whether the ultimate British action would take the form of reprisals, threatened last August in a note to Generalissimo Francisco Franco if there were further attacks on British shipping.

Meanwhile, government critics awaited pledges of a stronger British Mediterranean policy tonight when the house of commons ends its debate on foreign affairs.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, just before his departure for Brussels to attend the nine-power conference on the far eastern situation, was expected to conclude the nearly week-long debate for the government.

In view of the tangled situation on withdrawal of foreign troops from Spain and the discord in the European non-intervention committee, Eden was expected to express Britain's growing irritation at the lack of concrete progress.

Plan Final Assault
His majesty's opposition planned a final assault to follow up its charges last week that Great Britain's policy on the Spanish situation is enabling Italy to gain domination of the whole Mediterranean.

Foes of Chamberlain's national government were given additional fuel by the sinking Saturday of the British freighter. It was bound to Barcelona, Spain, with a cargo of wheat and condensed milk.

The London Herald published a dispatch from Barcelona intimating that the Italian-made plane said to have sunk the 2,349-ton freighter might have been piloted by Benito Mussolini, son of Italy's premier. It said that Spanish government intelligence reported the plane's markings were a skull and crossbones, insignia of a ship Mussolini might have flown.

All 26 of the Jean Weems' crew were saved.

LOOK FOR VOTE TO SHOW TREND

Local Contests to Forecast Opinions For 1938 Election

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1.—Political leaders striving for local victories in the absence of state-wide contests in Tuesday's election, nevertheless looked today for the result to show what direction the general trend might take in 1938.

Several spirited majority contests led the veteran secretary of state office statistician, George M. Neffner, to predict a 2,200,000 total vote, or $45,000 less than that of last November in the presidential and state balloting.

With a senator, congressmen and governor to be named a year from now, Republican victories tomorrow in municipal elections would presage an intensified drive to regain ground lost in national and state battles. Likewise, Democratic success would make for a consolidation of recent gains.

Chief interest centered on city contests involving rival labor forces at Akron and Canton. Lively campaigns were being concluded at

When a cold strikes . . . don't take needless risks

Treat Colds This PROVED Way

WHY experiment? Vicks Vapo-Rub has been doubly proved for you . . . proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind; further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (See full details in each VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you such proof.

VapoRub is the direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no risk of stomach upsets. Simply massage it on the throat, chest, and back (as illustrated). Relief starts almost at once. You begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub starts working direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time, its medicated vapors—released by the warmth of the body—are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break local congestion. Repeat treatment at bedtime. After restful sleep comes VapoRub keeps right on working, hour after hour. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Harroff's Second Term Request Based On Record Of Achievements

HARMONY IN GOVERNMENT

HARMONY, EFFICIENCY In Police Dept

BACKED STREET MARKER PROGRAM

PROMISED ALL NIGHT LIGHTS—AND GOT THEM

COURAGEOUS LAW ENFORCEMENT

WAR ON DRUNKEN DRIVERS

MAYOR GEO. R. HARROFF

Mayor George R. Harroff, asking re-election for a second term tomorrow, stands squarely on a record of accomplishments unsurpassed in Salem's history in many years.

Two years ago he promised all-night lights—AND GOT THEM! On Oct. 29, 1935, at a pre-election meeting, he said: "If elected, I hope to provide lighting for the residential district at all hours of the night."

In his first message to city council, Jan. 7, 1936, he said: "One of the principal objectives of the administration will be improvement to as great an extent as possible in street lighting conditions."

On June 17, 1936, there appeared in a newspaper story, "Street lights in Salem burned all night. Councilmen, cooperating with Mayor George Harroff's plan for better lighting for Salem, several weeks ago authorized council's lighting committee to install bulbs of smaller wattage."

Accomplishments during the Harroff administration have been possible because of his successful efforts to create harmony. Bonds have been reduced and whom Harroff gives full credit.

Mayor Harroff promises only that he will continue, to the best of his ability, to serve the City of Salem for the best interests of all the people.

Sinclair-izing Now Will Save District Motorists Winter Repair Expense

COLD-WEATHER CARE ESSENTIAL

Periodic Attention Is Best Economy For Motorist

Some motorists do not realize the chances they take when they neglect "get-ready-for-winter-service." Others have a vague idea but don't do anything about it.

Apparently they do not realize that neglect costs much. For instance—Frozen radiator, $8; frozen engine block, $45; frozen water pump, $1; burned out transmission, $30; burned out differential, $16; battery recharged, $1; towing service, etc.

And these repair estimates are largely for the cars in the low price field.

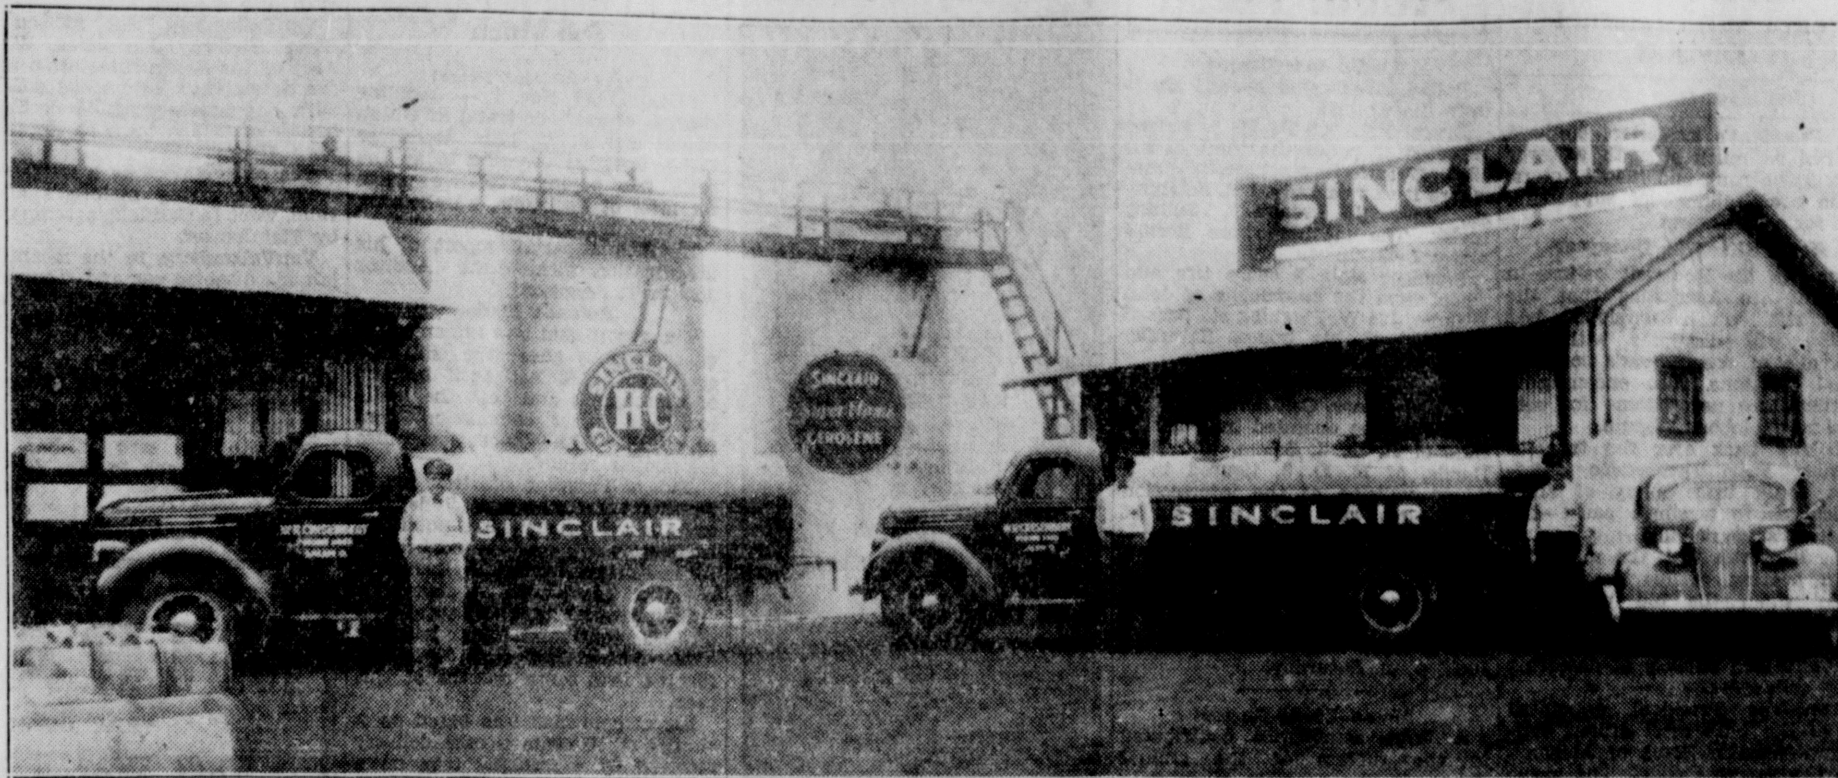

Every single item listed here, as well as countless others which crop up in a winter's driving, can easily be avoided if the motorist will instruct his car to any Sinclair service station now and then to see to it that it is Sinclairized at regular intervals.

An automobile investment ranging anywhere from $600 or $700 to well above $1,000 certainly deserves some attention.

There is a Sinclair dealer in your neighborhood. Make his acquaintance. Let him explain how he can help you, deliver and render your car a super-service and save you money.

Step-By-Step Conditioning Within Home-Owner's Reach

"Step by step" installation of air-conditioning equipment up to the point of complete winter air-conditioning is within the reach of the average local home-owner, declares W. W. Tolerton of The Citizens Ice & Coal company, local Iron Fireman dealer.

"Many people have questioned air conditioning, because they assumed that it necessarily involved the installation of mechanical refrigeration and dehumidification equipment, which may cost more to operate than their family budgets allow," he states. "But winter air-conditioning is available to nearly everyone, because it is merely the glorification of services already common in the home."

"Winter air-conditioning requires nothing more than a modern heating plant, automatically fired, and a carefully designed air circulating system, including air filters, and an inexpensive humidifier."

"To build up a winter air-conditioning system piecemeal, the following steps should be taken:

"1. Whether the present heating plant is a warm air furnace or a boiler and radiators, be sure it is in good condition and of adequate size."

"2. Install in the heating plant an automatic firing unit or burner for the most economical fuel available in the locality. Automatic coal stokers are especially well adapted for use with air conditioning units. The stoker fire never goes completely out; it does not "pop on, pop off." The furnace is always partially warm. Stoker fires respond quickly to controls."

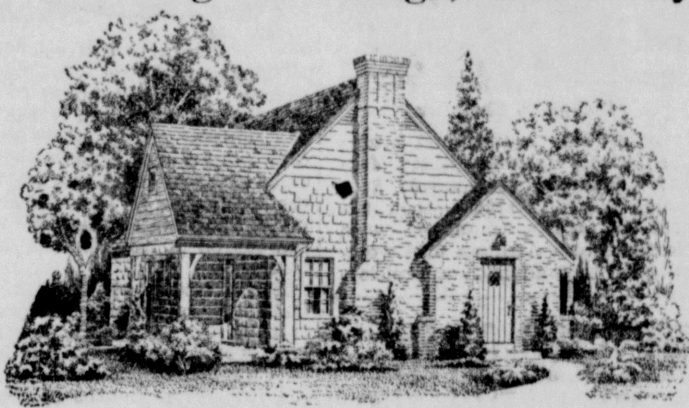

"3. Be sure that safe and proper controls are selected for the burner and heating unit."

"4. Install: (a) An air duct system and air circulating fan for circulating the air from the living rooms of the house to the heating plant and back to the living rooms. If the heating plant is a warm-air furnace, the air ducts will already be installed; (b) A set of filters in the air duct system for cleaning the air before it is heated; (c) An automatic humidifier for supplying needed moisture to the air after it is heated."

"For the great majority of homes, it is seen that the first essential step along the modern road to air-conditioning, is the check-up on the heating plant and the installation of an automatic fuel burner with electrical controls designed especially for it."

English Cottage, Deservedly Popular

Out of the many, many types of home architecture, the English style is one of the most popular... and rightly so! This cottage, for instance, is extremely attractive, its compactness, its lovely lines make it an outstanding example of beauty in small homes.

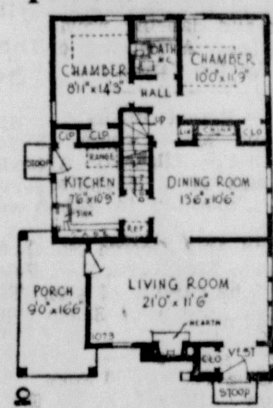

Glancing at the exterior, note the porch and the front stoop, both of which open into the living room, and the great chimney which suggests a huge fireplace inside!

Entering by the door off the stoop, we find ourselves in a vestibule, complete with a closet for hats and coats. This vestibule has a window on the right which provides light and ventilation for a place that in many homes is dark and stuffy.

Next comes the living room, a really comfortable one that measures twenty-one by eleven and a half feet. Unique light and ventilation are provided by windows and doors on three sides of this room... a door to the left opens onto the porch, three windows on the right and a window looking out to the front of the house. The suspicion that there might be a fireplace turns out to be true... there's a fine, large one in the front wall.

The dining room is large and cheerful, getting light from windows on the right. This room measures thirteen and a half by ten and a half feet... ample room for bulky, dining room furniture. On the wall towards the back of the house is a roomy china closet, a convenient feature.

Convenience is the keynote of the kitchen arrangement. Entering from the dining room we find first, an out-of-the-way space for the refrigerator. Continuing, we see in the outside wall, two windows with the sink beneath them. To the right of the windows, is the rear door, giving out to the side of the house. In the right wall is a closet... a handy place for ironing boards and other miscellaneous items.

many.... and the range. Directly opposite, the wall is completely lined with cabinets. Seven and a half feet by ten feet nine inches is the size of this room.

This home can be built at comparatively low cost and is adaptable to stone, brick or stucco construction as well as frame and shingle as shown. Any way it's built, it remains a comfortable, attractive place in which to live!

See the People's Lumber Co., for information on this and other popular designs.

stage is still another set of permanent scenery, beautifully painted and decorated for the second and third acts. It becomes visible when the triple stage is removed.

All the scenery is entirely new, having been built from the recently patented material known as sheetrock and used extensively in house construction. Work is in charge of Harold Babb and Howard Chamberlain.

Experienced Cast

The associate director, Mrs. Geo. W. Bunn, secured her dramatic training at the College of Wooster. Various members of the cast have had experience in college dramatics.

Recently they organized themselves into a permanent group to be known as the Tower Players. Their purpose will be to encourage dramatics locally and to produce several well-known plays each year.

Members of the cast are: Doris King, Sara Marie Wanner, Eugene Neale, Charles Trotter, Jack Wright, Ralph Long, Mrs. V. R. Martin, Frances Mae Vincent, Dorothy Milligan, Martha Barchhoff, Mary Campbell, Mary Jane Britt, Mrs. W. D. Talbot, John Paul Olloman and Kenneth Wood.

The ticket sale committee, F. W. McKee and E. H. Taylor, report that 1,400 tickets have been sold. Additional tickets are still available at the McBane-McArthur Drug store. Expense in connection with staging the play is estimated at several hundred dollars.

COLUMBIANA

Reformation day as well as Church Loyalty day was observed Sunday at the Lutheran church, commemorating the work of Martin Luther. Rev. C. J. Sutorius, sermon subject was "The Reformation, A Cleansing of the Temple of God." A number of local Lutherans attended an evening service at the Stambaugh auditorium, Youngstown.

The Sunday evening union service was held in Grace Reformed church, and the sermon was preached by Rev. G. A. Funk, pastor of the Christian church. On November 7, the union service will be in the Methodist church, and the program will be the Prince of Peace oratorical contest, in the interest of World Peace.

Rev. Horace Booker, blind evangelist will conduct a series of services at the Church of the Nazarene, continuing nightly except Saturday, until Nov. 14. He will be assisted by Mrs. Booker and both will sing and play various instruments.

James Detwiler, senior at Ohio State university, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

W. H. Britten master of Allen lodge, has returned from Cleveland where he attended the meeting of the Grand lodge of Masons.

Mrs. Homer Skeele, Montpelier, Vt., has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Gilchrist, and family.

The President's supporters contend he has as much strength as ever among the rank and file of voters. Some are talking of supporting him for a third term.

Hope Rift Will Disappear

Some of the Roosevelt leaders in congress are forecasting that the party rift which developed last session will disappear with the approach of next year's congressional elections. Also encouraging to them are negotiations for settlement of labor's dispute.

Looking back over the troubled year, Democratic chiefs could trace many of their difficulties to a single cause—the President's court bill.

Mr. Roosevelt took the most decisive beating of his presidential career when the bill was side-tracked. Bitterness enveloped Democratic ranks. One Democratic senator talked publicly of defeating party colleagues.

Then the President appointed one of the bill's most ardent supporters—Senator Black of Alabama—to the supreme court. The ensuing conflict echoed long after congressional adjournment, and brought disclosure that Black once had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Thefts Investigated

Police investigated several thefts over the weekend.

Bruce Price of R. D. 5, Salem, reported to police the theft of his 1928 Chevrolet car, stolen from where it was parked on E. Pershing st., near S. Broadway, Sunday night. The machine bore license plates L-784-X.

Someone stole a spare tire and wheel from the automobile of John Blunder, 124 W. Pershing st., parked in front of his house, Saturday night, police said.

Minor Collisions

Automobiles operated by Basil R. Bart of R. D. 2, Salem, and Bert Harris, of R. D. 3, figured in a minor collision at the intersection of S. Broadway and Aetna st., at 5:20 p. m. Saturday, police said.

George McKee of Lisbon said his car was parked on S. Broadway near Aetna st., when Fred Smith of Franklin ave., came out of an alley with a truck and struck his car at 10:35 p. m. Saturday.

Moose Event Success

A large attendance contributed to the success of the annual Founder's day program given Saturday evening by the Moose lodge at the hall. The affair was a benefit for the care and education of children at the Mooseheart home. Cards and dancing provided entertainment. A Sebring orchestra played for the dance.

initly in 1888 and 25 or 30 cars constituted the maximum in a freight train. The cars were only of 20 to 25 ton capacity, he says.

Today many freight trains consist of 135 cars, with cars of 50 to 75 ton capacity.

Recalls Coal-Stove Days

He also remembers how in former years the passenger trains consisted of five to seven cars, coaches without vestibules and with coal stoves and oil lamps for light. There were two or three Pullman sleepers on through trains.

Now many of the through trains comprise 15 cars, drawn by one or two mammoth engines, modern coaches and Pullman cars, air conditioned.

Wolfe points to the fact that when he started with the railroad, two tariff schedules gave all the freight rates that existed. Today a long cabinet at every station, filled with almost innumerable tariffs, contain a multiplicity of rates.

"It was work until the task was finished in the early days," the veteran recalls. "Eight-hour days were unknown. In those former years we worked 10 to 14 hours a day."

On top of that Wolfe remembers the many times, after he had left the office, when he was called for information concerning train operation. Frequently this occurred at night.

One of Wolfe's most pleasant recollections is the acquaintances made with people during the time of his service. Both he and Mrs. Wolfe like Salem and intend to continue to make their home here.

MT. VERNON HIT BY LARGE FIRE

Three Buildings Burned
To Ground In Costly
Blaze Today

MOUNT VERNON, Nov. 1.—Fire destroyed three buildings and caused damage to three others in the downtown section early today before being brought under control after burning 7 hours.

Insurance men estimated the loss at approximately $300,000.

A truck from the Newark fire department helped to fight the flames. Cause of the fire, which was seen first in a two-story brick building occupied by the F. W. Woolworth company, was not determined.

The Woolworth store building, which was owned by James Debes, and a three-story brick owned by the Woolworth brothers and used by a shoe company and for storage, were destroyed.

Another three-story brick, owned by the Hull estate and occupied by the wallpaper and office fixture store of George Gelsanitter was practically destroyed.

A wall fell upon the jewelry store of George Ownes and virtually wrecked it. Flames damaged the Knights of Pythias building, and water caused damage in the Pitkin building, occupied by a grocery store.

Stores on the west side of main street were deprived of electricity when a power transformer was damaged.

CIO To Be Factor In Tuesday Voting In Several Cities

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Scattered off-year elections will take place tomorrow in 15 states, but national interest will center on the bids of two organizations—old Tammany Hall and young CIO—for new political power.

Tammany is fighting to regain its old prestige in New York City's election of a mayor and New York county district attorney.

Opposes Tammany

The CIO is opposing Tammany on the New York front by backing Mayor Fiorella La Guardia, but its major bid for power is being made in Detroit, where it is running candidates for mayor and the city council. Victory would give it political control of a large city for the first time.

Mayor La Guardia, whose sweep four years ago left Tammany almost powerless, is seeking re-election with Republican, Fusion, American Labor party and Communist backing.

The Democratic candidate is Jeremiah T. Mahoney, former New York supreme court justice and former Tammany district leader. He has the support of Democratic National Chairman James A. Parley and Senator Robert F. Wagner.

Because both candidates are Roosevelt supporters, the election will not have special significance from a national political standpoint.

Opposed By A. F. L.

In the Detroit election, a non-partisan affair, Patrick H. O'Brien is the CIO candidate for mayor. His opponent, Richard W. Reading, unaffiliated, has the backing of part of the American Federation of Labor.

Five officials of the United Automobile Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, are among 18 nominees for the Detroit city council.

Aside from these two municipal elections, voters tomorrow will select two governors—in New Jersey and Virginia—four congressmen, a half dozen state legislatures, and officials in about 30 cities.

LIQUOR CHARGES DECLARED HIGH

State Examiner Reports That Ohio Is Paying
Too Much

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1.—Avoiding charges of graft or fraud in Ohio's liquor monopoly, State Examiner W. A. Galigher reported today the state was paying excessive prices for most of its liquor, warehousing and trucking.

He filed a partial report of his investigation with State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Refunds Made

The report said one unnamed liquor company gave the state a credit of $4,448 last April because of overcharges and that the auditors and liquor commission were negotiating with other companies for similar refunds.

Auditor Ferguson started investigating the liquor control department last February after published intimations of graft in connection with its management. Examiner Galigher was placed in charge.

Galigher computed the state paid $107,533 too much for trucking alone during 1936 and $102,519.27 for the first seven months of this year.

His computation was based on a charge of 10 cents a case delivery received by a trucking firm on a sub-contract, compared to 17 cents a case actually paid by the state to the general contractor. West Virginia, the examiner said, pays 10.9 cents a case for delivery from warehouses.

Compares Charges

Galigher's charge of excessive charges for warehousing were based on a comparison of the present contract charge of 10 cents a case with a rate of seven cents a case, which he said was quoted by the Baltimore & Ohio Warehouse Co. of Cincinnati to Auditor Ferguson March 3, 1937, for the Cincinnati area.

Had a 7-cent rate been in effect, Galigher said, the warehousing costs in the Cincinnati district last year would have been $12,000 less and, applied to the entire state for the first seven months of the year, could have effected a saving of $44,000.

"And we see no reason why it could not," Galigher commented.

Comparing purchase prices of specific brands of liquor paid by the Ohio, Virginia and West Virginia monopolies, Galigher's report showed Ohio generally paying from 10 to 40 cents a case more than the other states.

Ohio computes profits after adding handling costs and the $1-a-gallon tax to the liquor cost; the other states compute profits only on the cost.

Suggests Ruling

Galigher said the attorney general should be asked to rule on validity of the Ohio system. The Sherrill government survey committee recommended a change but liquor department officials said it would result in a $2,000,000 annual loss of revenue.

This would mean, they said, a loss of $4,000,000 annually for old age pensions as the federal government matches that supplied by the state. All liquor profits are used for pensions.

Motorist, 71, Held After Two Wrecks

Edward VanValkenberg, 71, of R. D. 2, Salem, was in jail at Canfield today following his arrest last night, escape and re-capture after a charge of driving while intoxicated had been filed against him.

VanValkenberg was nabbed by State Highway Patrolman W. E. D. 2, Salem, after the driver of the defendant's automobile collided with one operated by F. J. Steinhauer of Youngstown on Route 62, near Albany.

The officer, needing a warrant to make the erring motorist's arrest, valid, went to Canfield, accompanied by Steinhauer.

VanValkenberg, in the meantime, left his disabled car and "thumbed" a ride with another motorist, who, Corp. F. S. Van Allen said, also was drunk.

Hearing a radio message that an accident had occurred at Ellsworth, on Route 45, Patrolman Arey, starting back from Canfield, decided to investigate the new mishap and then proceed back to Mr. VanValkenberg.

At Ellsworth the surprised officer found that VanValkenberg was a front seat passenger in the car involved in this wreck.

So, off to jail he went. He will be given a hearing tonight before Mayor Robert Manchester.

Furthermore, Officer Arey learned the second "accident car" had been previously involved in a hit-skip accident on Route 62, having hit a machine operated by Carl Hively of Canfield.

The car struck at Ellsworth was driven by Forrest Whitacre of R. D. 1, Salem.

The officers have a warrant for the arrest of the hit-skip driver, too.

YES!---Local Issues are the Most Important at Tomorrow's Election

The chairman of the local opposition party in a speech last Thursday night said that tomorrow's election was only a LOCAL election and that national and state issues were of no interest. We agree with Mr. Opposition BUT we believe that even LOCAL issues can be settled better through the application of Democratic principles — principles which hold that governmental actions should first take into consideration the welfare and happiness of the common, every-day American citizen.

And the real Local Issues are these: Will we continue to have Light All Night ---and will we continue to have Muddy Water to drink During next two years? Elect these Democratic Candidates and the Answer to the First Issue will be YES! and the Answer to the Second Issue will be NO!

LYMAN GOODBALLET DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE
— for —
COUNCIL-AT-LARGE

Lyman Goodballet, Agent for the Freedom Oil Co., has been a resident of Salem for 19 years. He is a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church and of the I. O. O. F. Lodge. He served in City Council in 1934 and 1935 as a Councilman-At-Large and now seeks the office for another term.

VOTERS

If you have had an unusual amount of muddy city water in your homes the past two years there is a reason, and we Democrats intend to make it our business to correct this if elected.

GEORGE McARTOR for Mayor

George McArtor has been a resident of Salem for 50 years. He has been in politics for the past 40 years, having served in council for 11 years and on the board of education for eight years during that time. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and belongs to the Carpenters Local, the Odd Fellows and Maccabee Lodges. He has been a carpenter contractor in Salem for many years.

Why Salem Now Has Light All Night

On January 1, 1934, the incoming Democratic Administration headed by Norman Phillips, found that the city of Salem owed the Ohio Edison Company $9,000.00. During the following two years this Democratic Administration curtailed in every way and paid off the entire indebtedness.

In other words, when the present Republican Administration took office they found themselves in a much better financial condition as far as light was concerned than the Democrats found themselves two years before.

During the last year of Mr. Phillips' Administration, and during the past two years, George McArtor, now a candidate for Mayor, served as Chairman of the Council Lighting Committee. Much of the credit for reducing the old light bill should go to Mr. McArtor, because of the work he did in this department.

However, the credit for giving Salem light all night during the past year, should be given almost entirely to Mr. McArtor because after the indebtedness had been reduced and a reduction secured in the rate, Mr. McArtor tested several sections with new low-wattage light bulbs. It was found that with very little extra expense lights could be burned all night by changing the bulbs without any perceptible decrease in the volume of light.

Thus today Salem has light all night—the credit for which should be given to the Democratic candidate for Mayor, because it was the Democrats who paid the old light bill of the former Republican Administration, and because through the initiative of Mr. McArtor it became possible to keep the city lighted all night at very little extra expense.

The Democratic Party of Salem calls this to the attention of the voters with the hope that they will give serious consideration to their candidate.es.

16 MAJOR COLLEGE TEAMS REMAIN UNBEATEN

California Bears Appear As Sure Bet To Represent West In Rose Bowl Battle

Number of Teams Still In Running For Eastern Bid To Bowl Classic; Alabama's Crimson Is Stand-out In Southeastern Conference

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Heading into the November stretch, 16 major football teams still have eluded defeat, but the race for the mythical national championship as well as for the very real bowl game nominations still is wide open.

California's Golden Bears look like a safe odds-on bet to represent the far west in the Rose Bowl classic, but the field of eligible opponents is large enough to allow plenty of room for speculation.

Assuming that the Rose Bowl invader will come from the south or the east, Alabama's Crimson Tide, current stand-out in the Southeastern conference; Duke's Blue Devils, Southern conference power, and Pittsburgh, Fordham, Villanova and Dartmouth all can be reckoned as still definitely in the running. Pitt and Alabama are "veteran" Rose Bowl contenders and, if they can avoid defeat the rest of the way, probably hold a definite edge over the rest.

Although the undefeated list, lacking the presence this week of Vanderbilt, North Carolina, Detroit, Auburn and Western (Colorado) State, adds up to 16, only seven of these have escaped ties. Here's the undefeated line-up of so-called major teams:

East—Lafayette, unbeaten, untied and unscored on; Pitt, Fordham, Dartmouth, Villanova, Holy Cross, Yale and Temple, all tied at least once. Mid-west—Nebraska, tied once.

Southwest—Baylor, unbeaten and untied.

South—Alabama, unbeaten and untied; Duke, tied once.

Far West—California, Santa Clara and Montana, all unbeaten and untied.

Rocky Mountain—Colorado, unbeaten and untied.

High-spots of this week's schedule include:

Middle West
Top billing goes to Pitt's invasion of South Bend to play Notre Dame, 7-6 conqueror of Minnesota in one of the most stirring of the season's series of form reversals. Pitt, which swept past Carnegie Tech 25-14, may rule a slight favorite, but the Irish definitely appear to have found themselves after a disappointing start.

Big Ten competition will find Ohio State and Minnesota, only unbeaten teams within the conference, favored to move along another step toward a probable tie for the title. Ohio State, which ran over around and through Chicago, 39-0, battles Indiana, which outgained Nebraska from here to there but yielded, 7-0, to Jack Dodd's 65-yard touchdown run in the first 17 seconds of play. Minnesota plays Iowa, upset 13-0 by Purdue, Northwestern, back in the winning column with a 14-0 victory over Wisconsin. The Illinois, beaten 7-6 by Michigan's fighting Wolverines, Chicago and Michigan square off in the other conference tie.

The two leaders in the Big Six conference, Nebraska and Kansas, collide at Lincoln.

East
Fordham, which handed North Carolina its first defeat, 14-0, returns to the Polo grounds to battle Purdue in the best of a series of intercollegiate duels.

Manhattan which defeated Georgetown, 20-12, plays Detroit, whose perfect record was ruined by Villanova, 7-0. Villanova, still boasting a perfect defensive record, should have little trouble with Marquette, handicapped by Santa Clara, 38-0.

Princeton and Dartmouth are paired in the only " Ivy League " encounter of the week. Princeton, thoroughly tamed by Harvard, 34-6, seems to have small chance of stopping the Dartmouth juggernaut. The Indians from Hanover had Yale well-whipped, 9-2, only to see the Elis square the count in the last few seconds of play on a 35-yard touchdown pass and Gil Humphrey's subsequent point after touchdown.

Yale may get a comparative "breather" with Brown, Columbia, stopped cold by Cornell, 14-0, plays Navy, shocked by a 14-7 defeat at the hands of Penn's aroused Quakers. Penn plays Penn State.

Southwest

Baylor's hard-earned 6-0 triumph over Texas Christian left the Bears solidly entrenched in first place in the Southwest conference race but a new threat has arisen in the form of Rice's Owls. Rice, which passed its way to an entirely unexpected victory over previously unbeaten Auburn, goes after its sec-

Los Angeles Leads Pro Football Loop

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—There's plenty of action, of one sort or another, in the American Pro Football league, but no team seems to be doing anything about the full Nelson the Los Angeles Bulldogs hold on first place.

The New York Yankees won their first game of the season yesterday over the third-place Boston Shamrocks, 13 to 7, and the Rochester Tigers, runners-up to the league leading Bulldogs, who did not play, tied with the Bengals of Cincinnati, 17 to 17.

The games climaxed a week also marked by the withdrawal of the Pittsburgh club from further participation this season. The team was in last place behind the Yankees when the decision was made and had lost all three of its starts.

BUEYEROS, N. M.—Two Pueblo, Colo., men struck "ice" here when they brought in a well that will produce an estimated 25 to 40 million cubic feet of carbon dioxide gas a day.

INDIANA TESTS OHIO STATE IN SATURDAY TILT

Case, Baldwin-Wallace to Battle For Conference First Place

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1.—Whether Ohio State is destined to win or share the Western conference football title probably will be decided here Saturday as the Bucks meet "Bo" McMillin's University of Indiana Hoosiers in the headline event of a 20-game program involving 32 of the state's 35 teams.

The Bucks are riding the crest with three straight league conquests. The Hoosiers lost to Minnesota and defeated Illinois. Should Ohio get by Indiana, the Bucks would be odds-on choices to take the final games from Illinois and Michigan.

While the Big Ten clash will grab most of the interest, there are a host of "naturals" in the state. Up at Cleveland the Ohio conference leadership is to be settled between Baldwin-Wallace and Case, the only unbeaten-untied teams in the loop. The contest looms as a toss-up, each having won three in a row in the circuit. Each has permitted one enemy touchdown, while the Yellow Jackets have scored 55 points to 51 for Case.

Dayton, the state's only unblemished team, takes on the tough Toledo Rockets on the latter squad's field. The Rockets have won five of their six contests, losing only to Akron, while Dayton has copped six in a row.

Two contests are slated in the Buckeye conference, but only the defeated teams figure in them. Ohio Wesleyan meets Miami at Oxford and Ohio university goes to Cincinnati. Marshall, sixth member of the league, plays Centre at Huntington, W. Va.

Six Ohio conference tilts, in addition to the Case-Baldwin-Wallace classic, take Oberlin to Wooster, Findlay to Kent State, Wittenberg at Bowling Green, Mount Union to Denison, Muskingum to Ohio Northern, and Capital to Heidelberg.

Western Reserve, defeated for the first time in 26 games by Dayton Saturday, attempts to get back on the right side of the ledger by meeting Syracuse. Coach Bill Edwards said his team probably would rebound after the Dayton setback and give Syracuse the battle of its life.

Other Saturday contests: Olivet at John Carroll, Hiram at Otterbein, Kenyon at Lake Forest, Davis & Elkins at Akron, Wilberforce at Lincoln U., Bluffton at Defiance, W. & J. at Marietta, and Creighton at Xavier.

For the first time this season, no Friday games are booked.

Columbiana Wins Tri-County Game

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 1.—A 48-yard run by Richard (Sonny) Fisher and a pass, Fisher to Eckert, gave Columbiana a 13 to 9 victory over Boardman in a Tri-County Football league game here Saturday.

The Fisher to Eckert pass brought the first touchdown in the second quarter. Fisher's long run scored for Columbiana again in the third period.

Touchdowns: Eckert, Fisher.
Extra point: Fisher (place kick).
Substitutions: Columbiana—Hoover, Burke, Glickler, Zellers, Moore, Boardman—Ruscoe, Bixler, Davis, Pldram, McCready.
Referee: Avery; umpire: Schofield; head linesman: Lindsay.

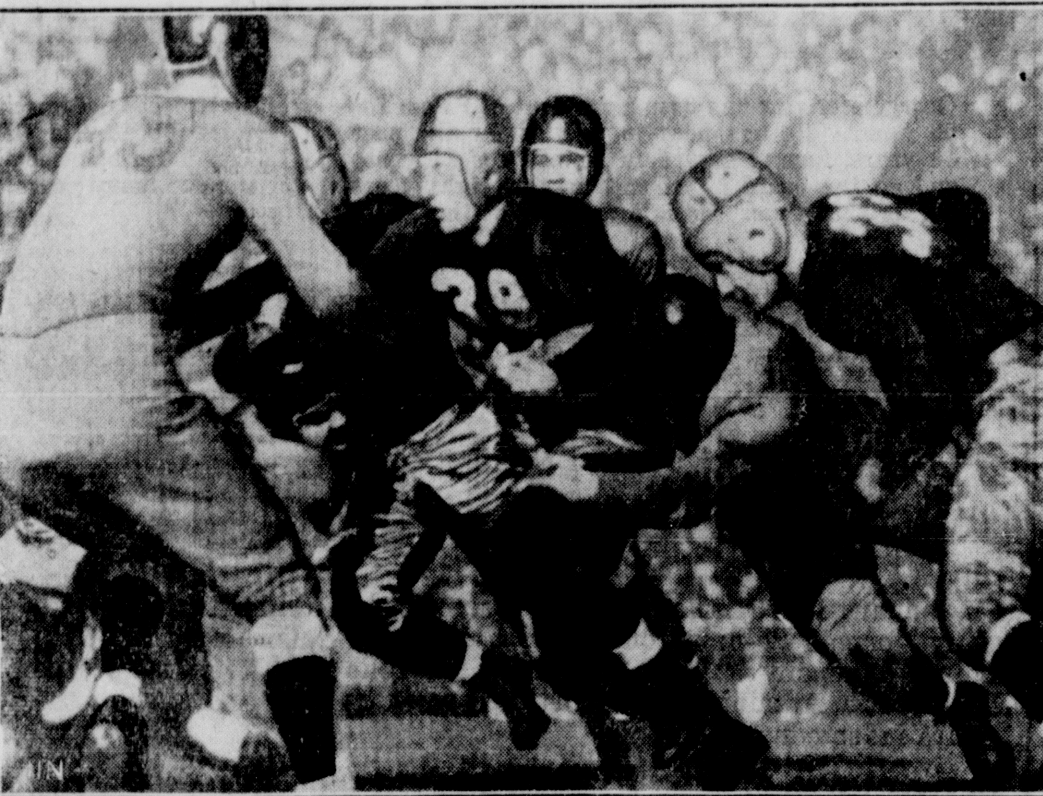

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Co-eds at the University of Missouri are going to the dogs—at least, as far as their clothes are concerned. Three girls the other day appeared on the campus wearing dog collars complete with brass studs, name plates and locks.

Ohio State Buckeyes Roll Over Chicago, 39-0

Kabealo, Ohio State left halfback, in dark suit, is pictured as he was stopped dead on 16-yard line as the first quarter ended. The game played in Chicago at Stagg field, was won by Ohio State, 39-0.

Fighting Irish Defeat Minnesota, 7-6

Jack McCarty, Notre Dame center, No. 39, breaks through Minnesota's line around right end for a gain of 13 yards to the 45-yard line. A placement by Andy Pupils, represented Notre Dame's margin over the Minnesota Gophers, in the thrilling game at the Memorial stadium in Minneapolis, won for the Irish, 7 to 6.

REDSKINS STILL IN TITLE CHASE

Baugh Leads Washington Team To Fifth League Victory

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The Washington Redskins, with Rookie Sammy Baugh wielding a big hatchet, are sending their war cry down the National Professional Football league trail.

Most of the attention this season has gone to the New York Giants, Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers, but the Redskins have served notice that they cannot be counted out of the title running, despite two defeats.

They scalped Brooklyn 21 to 0 yesterday for a fifth victory and Baugh, the Texas Christian graduate whose passing has been a feature of the campaign, scored one touchdown and paved the way for a second with a long aerial to Riley Smith.

New York's Giants and Chicago's Bears, respective leaders of the east and west sections, battled to a 3-3 tie before 50,419 fans in New York. Jack Mander booted a 20-yard field goal in the second period to match the 42-yard kick made by Ward Cuff in the opening stanza.

A crowd of 25,000 at Detroit saw Green Bay's Packers nose out the Detroit Lions 14 to 13 in stick in the title fight, Ernie Smith's successful kick for the extra point providing the margin of victory.

A 62-yard touchdown run on a punt by Doug Russell, plus two field goals by Bill May, gave Chicago's Cardinals a 13 to 7 win over Cleveland's Rams.

Pittsburgh spotted Philadelphia to an early touchdown, then came back to whip the Eagles 16 to 7.

SEATTLE—Jean Rothenhoefer, 20-year-old senior in home economics at the University of Washington, traveled 7,000 miles across the Pacific ocean so that she might attend the institution from which her mother was graduated. Her home was originally in Manila, P. I.

Saturday Stars

CLINT FRANK and GIL HUMPHREY, Yale, helped score seven points in last three seconds of play. Frank on two passes to mates for 63 yards for touchdown, and Humphrey with place kick for goal, to tie Dartmouth.

BILL TRANAVITCH, Rutgers, tallied 28 points to pace Scarlet in triumph over Lehigh.

VERNON STRICK, Harvard, gained over 200 yards from scrimmage and scored three touchdowns in rout of Princeton.

BILL JORDAN, Georgia Tech, made difficult catch, of forward pass to give Engineers first score in surprise win over Vanderbilt.

ANDY PUPILS, Notre Dame, scored touchdown and kicked goal which gave Irish triumph over Minnesota.

JACK DODD, Nebraska, ran 65 yards after grabbing shovel pass for only touchdown in defeat of Indiana in first 17 seconds of play.

ERNE LAIN, Rice, tossed two touchdowns passes to beat hitherto unbeaten Auburn eleven.

BILL PATTERSON, Baylor, threw aerials for 18 and 23 yards to set up game's only touchdown as Bears downed T. C. U.

VIC BOTTARI, California, scored twice, as Bears humbled University of California at Los Angeles.

BYRON WHITE, Colorado, tallied three touchdowns in one period in victory over Colorado mines.

MILTON POPOVICH, Montana, made two touchdowns to help beat Montana State in traditional contest.

E. Palestine Loses To Sebring Eleven
EAST PALESTINE, Nov. 1.—Led by Sonny Campbell, Sebring McKinley High gridders trounced East Palestine's Bulldogs, 20-0, here Saturday.

Campbell scored three of Sebring's touchdowns. The other marker was chalked up by Christ on an 80-yard run.

WEST POINT, N. Y.—The daily parades at the U. S. Military academy here have been suspended for the winter. Saturday reviews and Sunday parades will continue until after the close of the football season, however.

LIST 14 DEATHS FROM FOOTBALL

Fatalities Less Than In First Half of Last Gridiron Season

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 1.—The first half of the 1937 football season took a toll of 14 lives, some 25 per cent less than in the same period last year, Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood reported to the Associated Press today.

Of that total, nine were attributed directly to the gridiron game, and five to indirect causes, said Dr. Eastwood in his report, which includes games played throughout Oct. 29. Dr. Eastwood, associate professor of physical education at Purdue university, keeps an annual record of vital statistics for the American Football Coaches association and the N. C. A. A.

"Only one death was reported among the college ranks, two from the sandlots and eleven from high schools," he said.

"The reports tabulated up until Oct. 29 revealed a total of 14 deaths, as compared with 19 up until the same date last year.

"Cerebral hemorrhage and internal injuries, as usual, were the main cause of the nine deaths ascribed directly to football, while septicemia, heart attack and meningitis accounted for the five for which football was indirectly responsible.

Six of the deaths were reported from the south, three each from the mid-west and east, and one each from the mid-west and east, and one each from the Pacific coast and southwest.

IRISH TO HAVE SCRAP ON HAND THIS SATURDAY

Notre Dame Faces Pit Unbeaten Panthers In Important Game

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The fight Irish of Notre Dame, who've been throwing a lot of surprise punches lately, have a scrap on their hands next Saturday.

In their own "back yard," take on the powerful Pittsburgh Panthers, now rated by many servers as the strongest team in land. A victory for Notre Dame would class the Irish, who stand slowly and then get underway to upset wins over Navy and Minnesota in the past two weeks, as one of the best elevens in the nation.

Notre Dame defeated Minnesota Saturday 7 to 6 while Pittsburgh was romping over Carnegie Tech 25 to 0. Against the Gophers, Notre Dame showed plenty of fight and a great back in Andy Pupils, who scored all of the Irish points. The thoroughgoing with which Notre Dame bottle up the Gopher running attack indicates the Panthers who have no holiday at South Bend.

Wisconsin's Big Ten title bid received a hard blow as Badgers bowed to Northwestern, to 6, in a game which clearly showed the Wildcats the better team. Wisconsin will be idle Saturday with Northwestern taking Illinois at Evanston.

Illinois scored first against Michigan, with a fumble on the yard line turning into a touchdown by Willard Cramer. Jack Bernick was low and the scrappy Wolverines came back to win on Fred Trosko's touchdown pass and his successful placement. Michigan entertains Chicago Saturday and will be favored to whip the Maroons, walloped 39 to 0 by Ohio State.

The Buckeyes now lead the conference title chase with three wins and no defeats. Minnesota, twice victorious, is expected to down Iowa, which fell before Purdue 13 to 0, but Ohio State probably will retain its clear conference lead with another victory at the expense of Indiana. The Hoosiers lost to Nebraska 7 to 0.

The only conference team outside the Big Ten for action is Purdue, which travels east to take on Fordham's strong eleven.

"THE SILVER ROOD MYSTERY"

by Lewis Allen Browne

CHAPTER XXXII

I had no more than turned into Cove road before Mrs. Stapleton asked, "What do you really think?"

"Too much proof," I said.

"I hadn't thought of that."

"I want to check up on the fire that burned some records. I want to check up on other things."

"Such as?"

"Well, Mrs. Stapleton, as I said, let's not build too high hopes."

"It isn't because we cannot afford to give her what she asks. I honestly want her to have it if she is the daughter of Gerard. But I don't want to think that of Gerard."

"Oh, come now; he was young, she was pretty. Sir Galahads are as scarce as the Dodo. It isn't impossible that this little Nola Lutzmann should have wanted to do as she did—never let him know."

"I never heard of such idiotic sentimentality."

"Well, we shall see what we shall see."

I left her at the house and drove down home in time for the two o'clock luncheon. Sally came rushing out from the south veranda where the luncheon was being served.

"Wally wants you at once, at his office, Harley," but she gave coffee and a salad first," she said.

"Did he say why, Old Girl?"

"Not a word. What happened?" she asked, in a whisper.

"Long story—she had some startling papers. Tell you later."

I rushed through the luncheon and drove to Greatport.

Wally Foxcroft was dictating. "I'll finish later," he said to the stenographer, and waited until she left and closed the door. Then he picked up a cablegram from under a book on his desk and handed it to me. It was addressed to him, and read:

"Lardeau coming back with us, willingly, Colton."

"How's that, Harley?" Foxcroft cried.

"It's a dastardly trick!" I exclaimed. "He should be brought back in irons. He'll escape, you can bet that!"

"Nonsense, Harley," Foxcroft cried. "Can't you see that this proves what I contended all the time—Lardeau merely stole that painting on the same afternoon that Griswold killed Montie."

"Lardeau realized," I argued, rather heatedly, "that if he refused to come back willingly, he would soon be locked up until he could be extradited. By agreeing to come back of his own volition, he secures plenty of freedom and the opportunity to escape. Can't you get in touch with your cousin, Mr. Colton, and warn him?"

"No need of it. Lardeau is innocent or he wouldn't agree to come back here."

"Even if he were innocent, he wouldn't run the risk of facing a murder charge in an alien country."

I read the cablegram again.

"When did you get it?"

"About 10 o'clock—couldn't raise you. Harper's gone to Kingsbury to try and get something new on Griswold."

"Griswold? What's new there?"

"Going to search his effects when he drives over to see Mary."

I laughed at him.

"That was done before."

"I know, but there might have been something that he hid, and after the search, put back with his papers—some letter from Montie, threatening him, perhaps."

"Look here, Wally. I know that Griswold isn't quite clear, but this Lardeau tried to buy the painting and Montie refused. The third time he came back, perhaps prepared to offer more money, Montie was asleep, we have every reason to believe. He woke up and caught Lardeau taking the picture. Lardeau knew all about trick knives disguised as silver rods, doubtless."

"Oh, come, I'll bet there isn't another in the world. That is hand-made."

"For that matter, Mary isn't absolutely clear."

"That's crazy talk!"

"Not a bit," I said. "He had been there twelve years, we've looked him up, he was eight years with the Warrentons in Wilmington before that, as fine a character as any man—master or man—ever had."

"That doesn't eliminate him. Of course Nola Morin—"

I jumped up excitedly.

"Doubtless, you seem to do your best detective work in your stories, Old Man," observed Wally.

I told him of the forenoon session and of Morin's proofs.

"I know, she said she had plenty. The girl was right, she wouldn't be likely to kill her own father."

"Nola Morin isn't eliminated by a mighty long shot, Wally," I said gravely, "suppose she concocted this swindle, or suppose Wilbur Fellows, who may or may not be her husband, concocted it for her. Then, if it is all faked proof, Montie would laugh at it and prove that it was a swindle, but with Montie dead, there would be no one to disprove their claims."

"That's got a hole in it as big as the moon. If she killed him, how would she dare, later, to make a claim to his property? She knew that she was under suspicion."

I shook my head, wearily. Foxcroft, I feared, was right. I did my best detective work in my stories.

"When may we expect Lardeau—if he doesn't escape?"

"Five or six days, depending on which boat they take."

"If he escapes, it will shake your belief that Griswold is guilty."

"I doubt it. It will only show that he doesn't want to face a charge of stealing a painting."

"I only hope we get our hands on Lardeau. Have you anything else to suggest?"

"Not a thing. This claim of Morin's will be entirely out of my jurisdiction unless you can prove that it is a swindle. I can't help you in that angle at present."

"Right."

I went out and over to Harper's office to use the telephone there. I didn't want to risk having Foxcroft's secretary, or others in his office, hearing me. I got in touch with Phil in about an hour, made an appointment to meet him in New York and went home.

At noon, the next day, I met Phil and told him all that I knew. I had picked up from Judge Wentworth the original letter from Nola Lutzmann to her sister Grilda, telling of the birth of a daughter on February 16, 1912.

"Now, Phil, Morin will be marking time until she hears from Judge Wentworth. You will know where to locate her. Your next job is to go over to Carlistad and find out if there was any town or city hall fire, or any fire that destroyed vital statistics records, about twenty years ago."

"Fine. That's better than watching a little old brick two-family house."

And so he went his way while I went to police headquarters and got some valuable information concerning experts in the matter of both links and papers.

Mr. Schwartz, who was a chemist of repute, was a smallish man with sleepy appearing eyes. I gave him the letter.

"Umm, a matter of identification, or of an estate, yes?"

"Both, Professor."

"I dropped the 'Professor' long ago. I haven't taught for years and I find that it is better to go as plain Mister."

He tossed the letter on his littered desk.

"Go easy with it, please, it's important. When can you let me know about it?"

"Tomorrow."

"I want to know about the paper, when it was made, its age, anything—everything."

"Not everything." He smiled. "I perform no miracles. I could not tell you who bought it, who sold it, and who the retail buyer was. I may tell you who made it, and when."

"That will be fine. And the ink!"

He picked up the letter again, put it under a compound microscope and studied it. He shook his head.

"I shall have to work on that. Tomorrow noon, I will let you know. I shall have to remove a little of the ink."

"That won't—" I remembered the photostat. "Very well, we have a photostat."

It was rather late when I got back to Greatport, but Sergeant Harper was in the office.

The Morning After Taking Carter's Little Liver Pills

"What about Griswold?" I asked. He laughed. "That was Mr. Foxcroft's idea," he explained. "I made the search. Not a thing out of the way, not a grain of anything that would incriminate him."

"What did Foxcroft say?"

"That Griswold was clever."

"I've asked you many times, I'll ask again, what do you think?"

"I think that if Griswold did do it, no jury in the world would hold him on the mere fact that he was seen coming out of the house, especially with that maid's testimony that she saw him step in and right out again—the maid who was at the bird cage and saw Morin."

"I agree, but if he is put on trial it will be mighty tough on him—he will lose that university appointment. What is more, unless I am mistaken in him, he will never marry Mary until he is thoroughly cleared."

New Traffic Code

WARREN, Nov. 1.—A new, 50,000-word traffic code, declared by city officials to avoid all loopholes of such laws, was in effect here today.

Among the provisions are a five-day jail sentence and $25 fine as minimum penalty for reckless drivers on first offenses, a 10-day sentence and $100 fine for drunken drivers, and a possible year sentence and fine of $5,000 for failure to stop after an accident.

Bomb Funeral Home

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—Perpetrators of the bombing of the Cohn-Margowsky Co. funeral home were sought today by police, who said a black powder bomb, placed on the porch of the funeral chapel, ripped away the porch and damaged the interior yesterday.

DO AMERICA'S FLIERS APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS?

And many millions of Americans—more people than smoke any other cigarette in the world—give a hearty o-kay to Camels!

WINIFRED CASTLE works long hours at her editorial desk—smokes a lot. She says: "I can smoke as many Camels as I please and they never get on my nerves."

WARREN PIAGET, crack salesman, drives 50,000 miles—and more—a year. "I get tired," he says. "And I think it's swell the way Camels give me a 'lift'."

PETER KILLIAN is a news photographer. His slant: "Camels are all-ways with me—especially at the table. Camels help my digestion to keep clicking."

EDWARD HURLEY, busy architect, says: "To my way of thinking, a man doesn't really know what honest-to-goodness natural flavor means until he smokes Camels."

ED GRAFFE, gym instructor, says: "Camels set me right—and that takes in a lot of angles. I can smoke all I please without getting jangled nerves."

MARIE DRISCOLL, business girl, speaks for a good many stenographers when she says: "Camels have everything I like a cigarette to have."

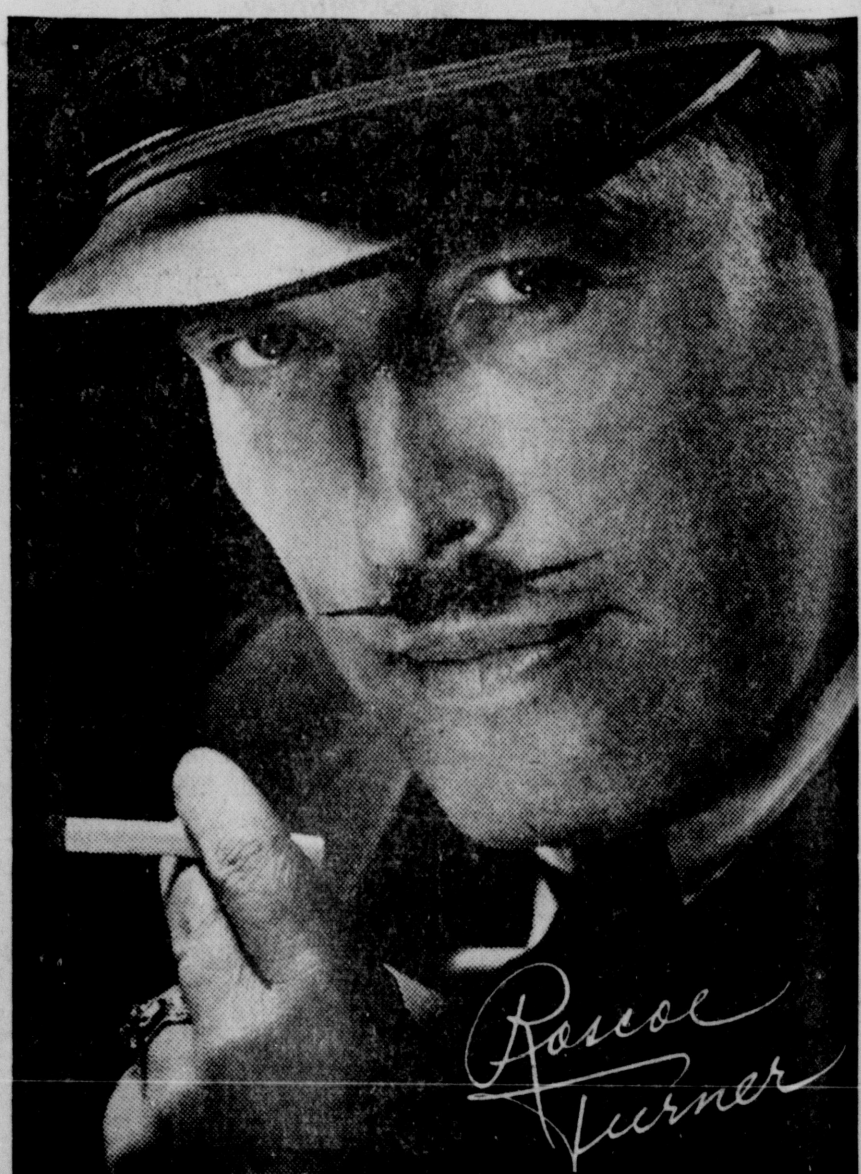

GENE ENGLISH, radio engineer, notices what cigarette the stars like: "Camels seem the favorite. I smoke Camels. They don't make my throat feel scratchy."
